AEgls contract

The AEgls Technologies Microsystems Group has been awarded a Small Business Innovative Research contract for new laser eye protection technology for visors with the Air Force. AEgls Chief Scientist Dr. Milan Bunclick will be assisted by research physicist Neset Akozbek and biomedical engineer Carlos Kengla. Fabrication and testing will be conducted at AEgls and UAH. "This technology offers protection for helicopter pilots, anybody who flies close to the ground and is exposed to laser threats," Bunclick said.
